

Debsoc Debates

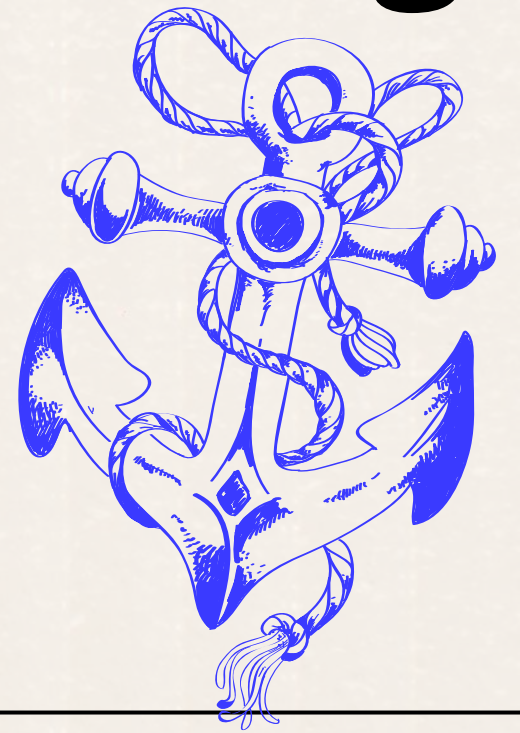

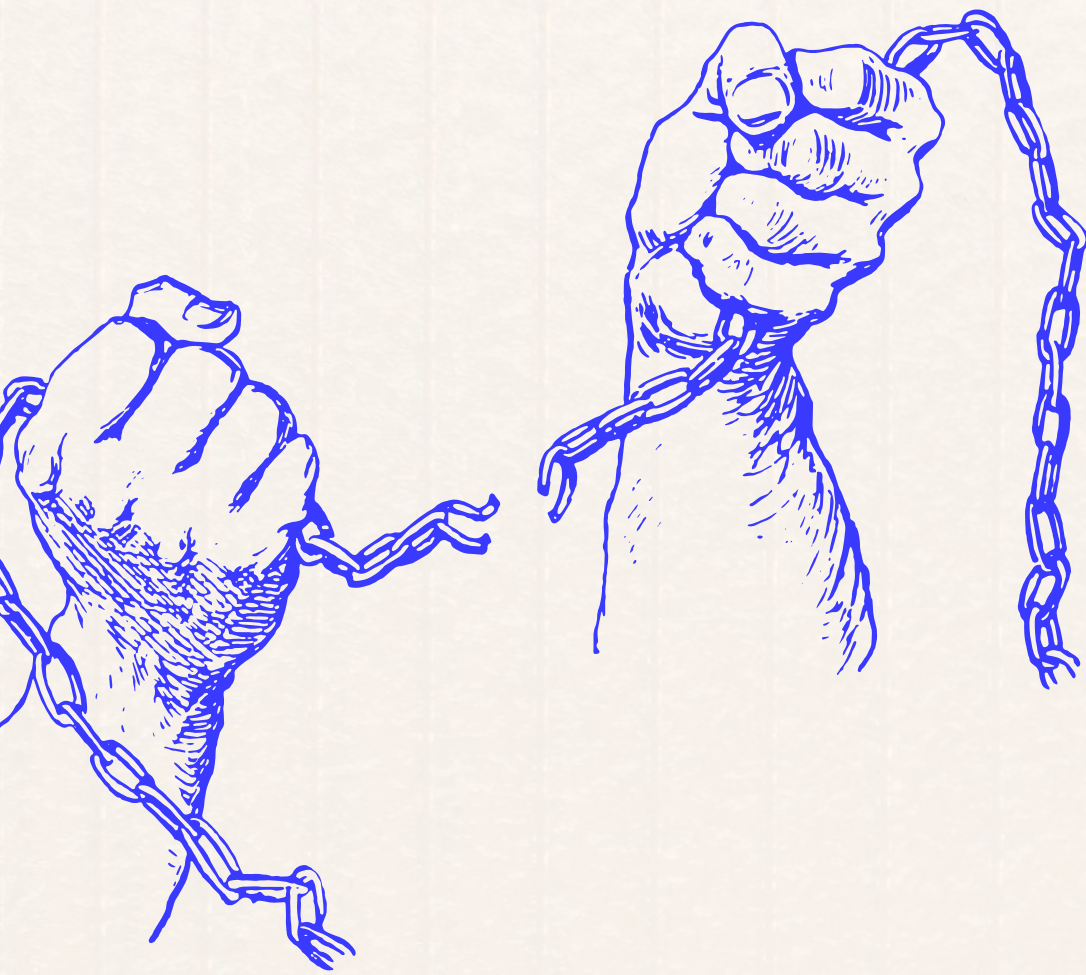

Context 1:

Luigi Mangione is the suspect in the murder of UnitedHealthcare CEO Brian Thompson. UnitedHealthcare is the largest health insurance provider in the United States, and has come under controversy for denying treatment and coverage for patients. Following his arrest, a wave of social media support emerged, with many users portraying Mangione as a "modern-day hero".

Motion 1:

This house regrets the glorification of Luigi
Mangione's actions

Context 2:

In Criminal Justice, the American Rule for paying lawyer fees requires each party to pay its own lawyers, regardless of winning or losing a case. On the other hand, the English Rule requires the losing party to pay the winner's lawyer fees, alongwith their own lawyer fees.

Motion 2:

This house prefers the English Rule over the American Rule

Motion 3:

This house would hold the CEOs of social media companies criminally liable for crimes facilitated on social media (e.g. revenge porn groups, drug dealing networks, organisation of riots).
