SAFETY SLIDE

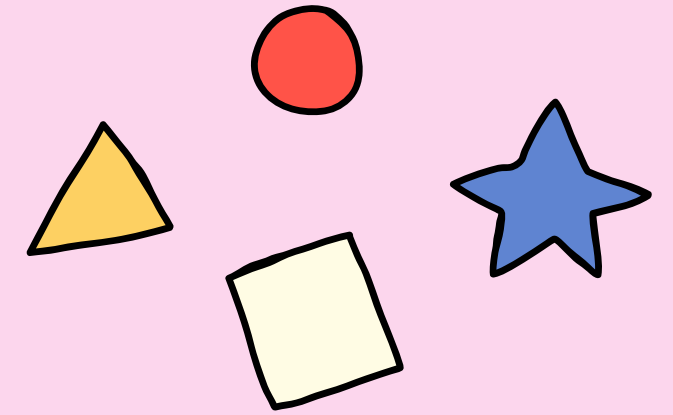

THEME:
SOCIAL SCIENCE

SAFETY SLIDE

CONTEXT SLIDE

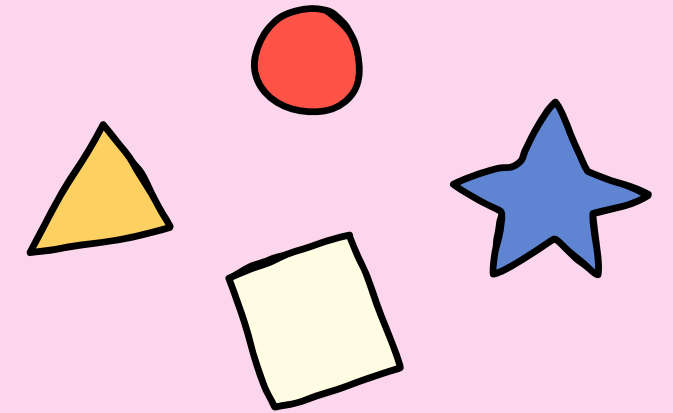

The Sentinelese are an indigenous tribe living on North Sentinel Island in the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, India. They have remained almost completely isolated for centuries and resist contact, sometimes violently. The Indian government prohibits approaching the island to protect both the tribe and outsiders from disease, making them one of the last uncontacted peoples in the modern world.

SAFETY SLIDE

MOTION 1

THW take official efforts to make contact with the Sentinelese tribe

SAFETY SLIDE

CONTEXT SLIDE

Emotional Regulation is a process of managing stress by internally controlling emotions. Strategies to do so include journaling, deep breathing, taking quiet breaks, or using techniques to stay calm and avoid conflict.

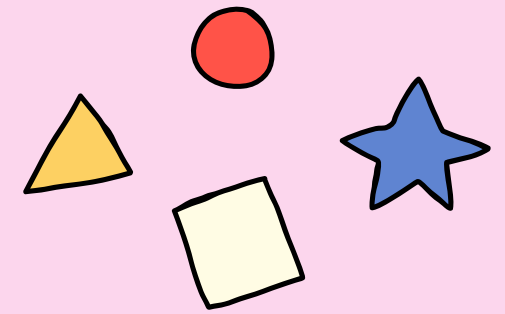

Emotional Expression is a process of coping through openly expressing emotions or addressing stress directly. Strategies to do so include talking to others, seeking support or actively problem-solving directly to confront stressors.

SAFETY SLIDE

MOTION 3

This House Would teach and encourage emotional regulation over expressiveness in schools and workplaces.
