Motion 3 InfoSlide:

Love potions refer to magical substances that, when consumed, induce strong romantic or affectionate feelings toward a specific person.

These potions do not override a person's free will, motor control, or ability to make decisions. They temporarily heighten emotional attachment or infatuation, similar to the early stages of romantic attraction. Their use is legal and publicly accessible. The effects are not permanent, but the potion may be used repeatedly. While the feelings induced are intense, individuals retain their ability to act autonomously, including the ability to refuse consent or end a relationship.
